

For: Sofia
6/28/18

Hello Sofia. May God pour down abundant blessings over your life. I write you this note for your help. I was separated from my son Delmar [full name redacted] the 19th of May. Since that date, I've spoken with my son only two times. He is quite desperate, crying so much. He wants me to get him out of where he is but I can't do anything because I'm locked up. Please help me get my son back. I can't bear my pain and desperation. The day we were separated they told me 'you will be separated from him.' It was a very distressing moment. He screamed, begging them to please not separate us. He hugged me, crying, he asked me not to let them separate him from me and then they put me in the ice box once again. When I left that place I was taken to the kennel. My boy came close to me and gave me so many kisses. He was locked up behind some bars, and between them he was able to kiss me but the officer made him go sit down. Please help me reunite with my son once again. Please help me. I can't bear the pain. I'm afraid of losing my son.

Lesvia [last name redacted]
HA [number redacted]